Hong Kong, March 22, 2024 – As part of NTT Group, a world-leading telecommunications and ICT service provider, NTT Com Asia Limited (NTT) has been honored with the “PropTech Integration Company of the Year – Silver” at the PropTech Excellence Awards 2024, in recognition of the remarkable achievements of NTT’s Building Management Solution.

NTT’s self-developed Building Management Solution leverages automated monitoring and management tools to empower facility operators and property owners with centralized control. Critical aspects of the building can be accessed and managed effectively through a single-pane-of-glass interface. By streamlining workflows and optimizing maintenance processes using an AI-enabled predictive approach, the solution significantly reduces management workloads and enhances overall supervision, unlocking the full productivity potential of the building.

Steven So, Senior Vice President, Data Centre Hong Kong, NTT Com Asia, said, “We are deeply honored to receive this prestigious accolade. In an era of digital transformation, property owners, facility developers and real estate players are increasingly adopting digital technologies to optimize their operations. NTT has remained committed and made substantial investment in innovative building management and IoT solutions. The success of our Building Management Solution will further extend to the market, addressing the evolving demands, enhancing building performance, and ultimately delivering premium services that lead to heightened customer satisfaction.”

The successful deployment of the solution in NTT’s data centre, despite the complexity of its building design, demonstrates how smart property operations can be optimized through innovative building management practices.
